FRANK MULLEN DEAD.

Physician Brought Here on Special Train to Save Young Man's Life.

AFFLICTED WITH APPENDICITIS.

Operation Was Performed at 9
O'clock and the Patient Did Not Rally From the Shock.

Frank J. Mullen, aged 22, son of John W. Mullen, of St. Joseph, died last night from the effects of an operation for appendicitis. His only hope lay in the success of the operation and it was performed at 9 o'clock last night by Dr. B. A. K. Steele, of Chicago, assisted by Drs. John and George Bell, Wilson and Caroline Hopkins. The patient's loss of vitality was so great that he was unable to rally from the shock of the operation and in the presence of the family he expired at 11 o'clock, two hours after the operation.

The young man was taken ill Tuesday. Yesterday it was decided to resort to an operation and Dr. Steele was wired to come at once. Arrangements to bring him to the young man's bedside as quickly as possible were made. He was advised to take the Michigan Central train which leaves Chicago at 4:15, and get off at Buchanan.

A special train was made up on the Milwaukee, Benton Harbor & Columbus and left this city shortly after 3 o'clock with Drs. Caroline Hopkins, John and George Bell and Wilson aboard. The train remained in waiting at Buchanan for the arrival of the Michigan Central train which reached there at 5:45. Not a minute was lost. The moment the famous surgeon alighted from the train he was hurried to the Milwaukee, Benton Harbor & Columbus depot and the fastest run yet made on the new road was witnessed in the speed of the special that brought Dr. Steele to Benton Harbor.

Electric lights were placed in the Mullen home yesterday to assist in the delicate surgical work the operation entailed and at 9 o'clock the young man submitted to the surgeon's knife. Dr. Steele apprised the anxious friends that the chances of recovery from the operation were discouraging, but it was the only alternative in prolonging life. Thirty minutes were required to do the work. The shock was more than the young man could stand and he died without recovering consciousness.

The death has brought gloom to one of the brightest and happiest homes in St. Joseph. The decedent, a very capable and ambitious young man, was employed as bookkeeper in the office of Mullen Bros., paper manufacturers. There are left of the family the mother and father and a sister.

The funeral will occur tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home, 71 Front street, Rev. J. R. McRoberts officiating.

INSANE MAN.

Escaped From the Poor House Saturday.

Henry Leader, an insane inmate of the county poor house, escaped from that institution Saturday and was caught yesterday in Coloma by Deputy Sheriff Umphrey.

HEAVY FINE.

It Is Imposed Upon George Vosburg.

George Vosburg, convicted of obtaining goods under false pretenses, by a jury in Justice Graves' court Saturday, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and $40 costs or go to jail for 90 days.

Vosburg is in jail, but he hopes to be able to raise the fine. There is a probability of the case being appealed. Vosburg was fined $50 by the circuit court judge of Allegan county in 1894 for operating a "blind pig."

OLD SETTLER DEAD.

J. H. Feather, of Hinchman Died This Morning.

Berrien Springs, Nov. 22—J. H. Feather, sr. of Hinchman, died this morning. He was 70 years old and had been a resident of this county since 1839.

SAW MILL BURNED.

One in which J. B. Graves and S. C. Zombro were Interested.

A sawmill at Alexandria, Ind., in which J. B. Graves and S. C. Zombro, of this city, were interested, burned last night.

Ice Cream.

Those wishing ice cream for Thanksgiving are requested to leave their order early at Mrs. T. B. White's, Newland block.

F. D. Smith, piano tuner, of Chicago is in the city and will remain 10 days. He has taken the place of Fred Schofield in this territory and comes highly recommended. Leave order at Howman's music store.

THE WEATHER.

Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday with continued cold and probably snow surges.

A NEW BOAT LINE.

Farmers Are Asked to Support Such An Enterprise.

A representative of a company that proposes to establish a new boat line to Chicago next season is canvassing the county with a view of ascertaining the support the farmers will give the new undertaking.

The scheme is being worked very secretly and nothing reliable can be learned concerning the magnitude of the enterprise. THE NEWS has interviewed a number of the farmers who have been approached by the company's advance agent but they were not advised as to the extent of the undertaking.

The materialization of the project evidently depends on the promises of the farmers concerning the amount of patronage they are willing to bestow.

BIG SUITS DISMISSED

The Shriver-Bean and Bean-Shriver Cases Are Amicably Settled.

THE TERMS NOT MADE PUBLIC

The Citizens and the Street Railway Company Are Happily at Peace Again.

Papers were filed in the office of the county clerk this afternoon dismissing from the circuit court calendar the following cases:

Shriver vs. Bean.

Shriver vs. St. Joseph & Benton Harbor Street Railway company.

Bean vs. Shriver, Hovey, Tutton, Boyle and Pearl.

Negotiations have been under way for the settlement of these cases for several weeks and the agreement and stipulation were arranged by Attorneys Howell and Gore.

The first of the three cases was tried in the circuit court two years ago and the surprising verdict of no cause of action was rendered. The case was appealed to the supreme court, was reversed and on the docket for trial at the present term of court. Mr. Shriver, in the action, sued for damages for injuries inflicted by a shotgun in the hands of Mr. Bean. In the second case Mr. Shriver sued the street railway company on similar grounds. This case has never come to trial, neither has the third suit in which Mr. Bean asked damages of Messrs. Shriver, Hovey, Tutton, Dean, Boyle and Pearl, for tearing up the street railway tracks on East Main street. The threatened suit against former Mayor Fifield for removing the trolley wires on East Main and Sixth streets will be dropped. The stipulations of the settlement are being kept quiet. It is known however that when talk of settlement was first made that Mr. Shriver offered to drop his suit if the other case were dropped and he receive the money he had paid for medical and legal services with a sufficient balance to carry him to the Klondike.

The settlement is good news to every one. It is surmised that the settlement may be followed by Mr. Bean buying the Eastman Springs road.

Distance Lends Enchantment.

Does ugliness as an attribute exist in nature? Can the ardent, sympathetic lover of nature ever find her unlovely? If nature is not utilitarian, she is nothing. We have only wonder and worship for her prodigal and perfect economy, but does she always couple beauty with utility?

To one who loves her nature is never tiresome nor uninteresting, but she is often most fascinating when veiled. She has moods and tempers and habits and even physical blemishes that are frequently discovered to the too pressing suitor, and while these may quicken his interest and faith they often dissipate that halo of poetry with which first fancy clothed her. How else were Thoreau's love songs talked without tune?

Like the spots on the sun, all other of nature's blemishes disappear in the general blaze of her loveliness when viewed through the veil of farness. From the deep distance of a bed in the meadow grass there is perfection of poetic motion, something thrilling and sublime in the flight of a buzzard far up under the very dome of a blue sky, but look at that baldheaded, snake-necked creature upon a fence stake, and you wonder how leagues into the clouds ever hid his ugly visage from you.—Dallas Lore Sharp in Lippincott's Magazine.

DR. TALMAGE TELLS WHAT THE FUTURE SERMON WILL BE.

The World Wants a Living Christ—Condensation the Demand of the Age—Why People Do Not Go to Church—An Appeal to the Unsaved Soul.

(Copyright, 1897, by American Press Association.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Most appropriate to the times we live in is Dr. Talmage's discourse of today. All Christian workers will read it with interest. His text is Luke ix, 60, "Go, thou, and preach the kingdom of God."

The gospel is to be regnant over all hearts, all circles, all governments and all lands. The kingdom of God spoken of in the text is to be a universal kingdom, and just as wide as that will be the realm of the gospel. "Go, thou, and preach the kingdom of God." We hear a great deal in these days about the coming man, and the coming woman, and the coming time. Some one ought to tell us of the coming sermon. It is a simple fact that everybody knows that most of the sermons of today do not reach the world. The vast majority of the people of our great cities never enter church.

The sermon of today carries along with it the deadwood of all ages. Hundreds of years ago it was decided what a sermon ought to be, and it is the attempt of many theological seminaries and doctors of divinity to hew the modern pulpit utterances into the same old style proportions. Book-sellers will tell you they dispose of a hundred histories, a hundred novels, a hundred poems to one book of sermons. What is the matter? Some say the age is the worst of all ages. It is better. Some say religion is wearing out, when it is wearing in. Some say there are so many who despise the Christian religion. I answer there never was an age when there were so many Christians or so many friends of Christianity as this age has—our age, as to others a hundred to one. What is the matter, then? It is simply because our sermon of today is not suited to the age. It is the cannibal in an age of locomotive and electric telegraph. The sermon will have to be shaken out of the old grooves or it will not be heard and it will not be read.

The Coming Sermon.

Before the world is converted the sermon will have to be converted. You might as well go into a modern Sedan or Gettysburg with bows and arrows instead of rifles and bombshells and parks of artillery as to expect to conquer this world for God by the old styles of sermonology. Jonathan Edwards preached the sermons best adapted to the age in which he lived. But if those sermons were preached now they would divide an audience into two classes—those sound asleep and those wanting to go home.

But there is a coming sermon—who will preach it I have no idea. In what part of the earth it will be born I have no idea. In which denomination of Christians it will be delivered I cannot guess. That coming sermon may be born in the country meeting house on the banks of the St. Lawrence, or the Oregon, or the Ohio, or the Tombigbee, or the Alabama. The person who shall deliver it may this moment lie in a cradle under the shadow of the Sierra Nevada, or in a New England farmhouse, or amid the ricefields of southern savannas; or this moment there may be some young man in some of our theological seminaries in the junior or middle or senior class shaping that weapon of power; or there may be coming some new baptism of the Holy Ghost on the churches, so that some of us who now stand in the watch towers of Zion, wailing to the realization of our present inefficiency, may preach it ourselves. That coming sermon may not be 20 years off. And let us pray God that its arrival may be hastened, while I announce to you what I think will be the chief characteristics of that sermon when it does arrive, and I want to make the remarks appropriate and suggestive to all classes of Christian workers.

First of all, I remark that that coming sermon will be full of a living Christ, in contradistinction to didactic technicalities. A sermon may be full of Christ, though hardly mentioning his name, and a sermon may be empty of Christ, while every sentence is repetitious of his titles. The world wants a living Christ, not a Christ standing at the head of a formal system of theology, but a Christ who means pardon and sympathy and condolence and brotherhood and life and heaven. A poor man's Christ. An overworked man's Christ. An invalid's Christ. A farmer's Christ. A merchant's Christ. An artisan's Christ. An every man's Christ.

The World Wants Help.

A symmetrical and finely worded system of the theology is well enough for theological classes, but it has no more business in a pulpit than have the technical phrases of an anatomist or a physician in the sickroom of a patient. The world wants help, immediate and world uplifting, and it will come through a sermon in which Christ shall walk right down into the immortal soul and take everlasting possession of it, filling it as full of light as is the noonday firmament. That sermon of the future will not deal with men in the threadbare illustrations of Jesus Christ. In that coming sermon there will be instances of vicarious sacrifice taken right out of everyday life, for there is not a day somebody is not dying for others. As the physician, saving his diphtheric patient by sacrificing his own life; as the ship captain, going down with his vessel, while he is getting his passengers into the lifeboat; as the fireman, consuming in the burning building, while he is taking a child out of a fourth story window; as last summer the strong swimmer at Long Branch or Cape May or Lake George himself perished trying to rescue the drowning; as the newspaper boy not long ago, supporting his mother for some years, his invalid mother, when offered by a gentleman 50 cents to get some special paper, and he got it and rushed up in his anxiety to deliver it, and was crushed under the wheels of the train, and lay on the grass with only strength enough to say, "Oh, what will become of my poor, sick mother now?"

Vicarious suffering? The world is full of it. An engineer said to me on a locomotive in Dakota: "We men seem to be coming to better appreciation than we used to. Did you see that account the other day of an engineer, who to save his passengers, stuck to his place, and when he was found dead in the locomotive, which was found upside down, he was found still smiling, his hand on the air-brake?" And the engineer said to me he put his hand on the air-brake to illustrate his meaning, and I looked at him and thought, "You would be just as much of a hero as the man who died."

In the high places of the land and in the low, fought our battle and won our griefs and endured our struggles and died our death.

The Image of Christ.

A German sculptor made an image of Christ, and he asked his little child, 8 years old, who it was, and she said, "That must be some very great man." The sculptor was displeased with the criticism. So he got another block of marble and chiseled away on it two or three years, and then he brought in his little child, 4 or 5 years of age, and he said to her, "Who do you think that is?" She said, "That must be the one who took little children in his arms and blessed them." Then the sculptor was satisfied. Oh, my friends, what the world wants is not a cold Christ, not an intellectual Christ, not a severely material Christ, but a loving Christ, spreading out his arms of sympathy to press the whole world to his loving heart.

But I remark, again, that the coming sermon of the Christian church will be a short sermon. Condensation is demanded by the age in which we live. No more need of long introductions and long applications and so many divisions to a discourse that it may be said to be hydra headed. In other days men got all their information from the pulpit. There were few books, and there were no newspapers, and there was little travel from place to place, and people would sit and listen two and a half hours to a religious discourse, and "seventeenthly" would find them fresh and chipper. In those times there was enough room for a man to take an hour to warm himself up to the subject and an hour to cool off. But what was a necessity then is a superfluity now. Congregations are full of knowledge from books, from newspapers, from rapid and continuous intercommunication, and long disquisitions of what they know already will not be abided. If a religious teacher cannot compress what he wishes to say to the people in the space of 45 minutes, better adjourn it to some other day.

The trouble is we preach audiences into a Christian frame, and then we preach them out of it. We forget that every auditor has so much capacity of attention, and when that is exhausted he is restless. That accident on the Long Island railroad came from the fact that the brakes were out of order, and when they wanted to stop the train they could not stop; hence the casualty was terrible. In all religious discourse we want locomotive power and propulsion. We want at the same time stout brakes to let down at the right instant. It is a dismal thing, after a hearer has comprehended the whole subject, to hear a man say, "Now, to recapitulate," and "a few words by way of application," and "once more," and "finally," and "now to conclude."

The Model Sermon.

Paul preached until midnight, and Eutychus got sound asleep, and fell out of a window and broke his neck. Some would say, "Good for him." I would rather be sympathetic, like Paul, and resuscitate him. That accident is often quoted now in religious circles as a warning against somnolence in church. It is just as much a warning to ministers against prolixity. Eutychus was wrong in his somnolence, but Paul made a mistake when he kept on until midnight. He ought to have stopped at 11 o'clock and there would have been no accident. If Paul might have gone on to too great length, let all those of us who are now preaching the gospel remember that there is a limit to religious discourse, or ought to be, and that in our time we have no apostolic power or miracles. Napoleon, in an address of seven minutes, thrilled his army and thrilled Europe. Christ's sermon on the mount—the model sermon—was less than 18 minutes long at ordinary mode of delivery. It is not electricity scattered all over the sky that strikes, but electricity gathered into a thunderbolt and hurled, and it is not religious truth scattered over, spread out over a vast reach of time, but religious truth projected in compact form that flashes light upon the soul and gives its indelibility.

When the coming sermon arrives in this land and in the Christian church—the sermon which is to arouse the world and startle the nations and usher in the kingdom—it will be a brief sermon. Hear it, all theological students, all ye just entering upon religious work, all ye men and women who in Sabbath schools and other departments are toiling for Christ and the salvation of immortals. Brevity, brevity!

But I remark also that the coming sermon of which I speak will be a popular sermon. There are those in these times who speak of a popular sermon as though there must be something wrong about it. As these critics are dull themselves, the world gets the impression that a sermon is good in proportion as it is stupid. Christ was the most popular preacher the world ever saw, and, considering the small number of the world's population, had the largest audiences ever gathered. He never preached anywhere without making a great sensation. People rushed out in the wilderness to hear him, reckless of their physical necessities. So great was their anxiety to hear Christ, that, taking no food with them, they would have fainted and starved had not Christ performed a miracle and fed them. Why did so many people take the truth at Christ's hands? Because they all understood it. He illustrated his subject by a hen and her chickens, by a bushel measure, by a handful of salt, by a bird's flight and by a lily's aroma. All the people knew what he meant, and they flocked to him. And when the coming sermon of the Christian church appears, it will not be Princetonian, nor Rochesterian, nor Andoverian, nor Middletonian, but Olivetian—plain, practical, unique, earnest, comprehensive of all the woes, wants, sins, sorrows and necessities of an auditory.

Churches Will Be Thronged.

But when that sermon does come, there will be a thousand gleaming scimitars to charge on it. There are in so many theological seminaries professors telling young men how to preach, themselves not knowing how, and I am told if a young man in some of our theological seminaries says anything quaint or thrilling or unique, faculty and students fly at him, and set him right, and straighten him out, and smooth him down, and chop him off until he says everything just as everybody else says it. Oh, when the coming sermon of the Christian church arrives, all the churches of Christ in our great cities will be thronged. The world wants spiritual help. All who have buried their dead want comfort. All know themselves to be mortal and to be immortal, and they want to hear about the great future. I tell you, my friends, if the people of these great cities who have had trouble only thought they could get practical and sympathetic help in the Christian church

BODY IS IDENTIFIED

Relatives Claim the Remains of the Man Who Washed Ashore at Sawyer.

BODY THAT OF J. W. PRICKETT

He Was a Wealthy Dealer in Harness and Saddlery at Columbia City, Indiana.

The body given up by Lake Michigan and lodged by the waves upon the beach near Sawyer has been identified as the remains of J. W. Prickett, a Columbia City, Ind., retail and wholesale dealer in harness and saddlery.

J. E. Prickett, a son of the dead man, and S. J. Heller, arrived in Benton Harbor from Columbia City Saturday night. They remained here until yesterday morning at 3 o'clock when they took a West Michigan train to Sawyer and arriving there early procured several laborers and had the body disinterred.

As the cover was lifted from the rough coffin and the features of the man exposed the son exclaimed, "That's my father." He identified him by two wens on the dead man's head, by his grey beard and the fact of the missing right leg. The son also had a photograph of his father which, when examined by Justice Knight, who acted as coroner in the burial of the body, was declared to be an exact likeness of the dead man.

The body was placed aboard a West Michigan train this morning and taken to New Buffalo where it was delivered to the Michigan central railway and started on its return to Columbia City where a wife, a daughter and two sons, await its arrival. They have been searching for the husband and father for many weeks—weeks that were full of anxiety and pain to them.

Saturday, October 16, Prickett was last seen alive by his family. On the evening of that day he closed his store and with upwards of $100 on his person left the city. He was traced to Chicago, then to Milwaukee by boat, and then across the lake to Muskegon where the trail was lost.

Two weeks ago a letter written by him at Muskegon was received by the family. It contained these significant words: "I'm going on the lake, farewell. The supposition is that he jumped from a steamer bound from Muskegon to Milwaukee with suicidal intent. He was addicted to the use of intoxicants and had once taken the Keeley cure, but began drinking again."

He was in the habit of disappearing and remaining away several weeks, during which time he would drink heavily. He always before returned of his own accord. He owned a very prosperous business in Columbia City and family is highly thought of.

Apoplexy—Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart is equally effective in apopleptic symptoms. If you have unpleasant dizziness, lightness or sudden rush of blood to the head, take precautions against a recurrence. This great remedy will remove the cause. The press of the land has daily a long list of sudden deaths which would not be chronicled if Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart were used. Sold by Geo. M. Bell & Co.—49

GREAT RECORD.

It Is Being Made By the Twin City Football Players.

The Twin City football team Saturday took another step toward the acquirement of the county championship. It defeated the Eclipse Athletic association's eleven Saturday by a score of 16 to 6.

The game was played on the Broadway grounds and was witnessed by a crowd of 400 spectators. It was not an exciting game for the reason that the teams were not sufficiently evenly matched, the Twin City players being more proficient in tactics, stronger and in every way superior to their opponents.

Bert Holmes made two touch downs under conditions that won him loud applause. Busbee and Plummer also did some brilliant work. There is a probability of Saturday's game being the last in which Plummer, who plays left end, will appear. He is considered among the strongest players of the team, but by reason of injuries received at Bangor and South Bend his retirement is considered advisable. It will be a severe blow to the team. He may conclude to play Thanksgiving day when a contest will be had with Niles.

A CLUB REVIVED.

THE TWILIGHT CLUB WILL HOLD A BANQUET.

Congressman Hamilton and Hon. L. A. Thurston Will Speak on the Hawaiian Question.

The Twilight club, which has been unheard of for many months, has revived and will hold a banquet at the Hotel Whitcomb, St. Joseph, tomorrow when the subject for discussion will be Hawaii. Hon. N. A. Hamilton will be the toastmaster, and that makes certain the happy fact that the guests will be kept in good humor.

The principal speakers will be Congressman Hamilton, Hon. L. A. Thurston, and Hon. Roscoe D. Dix, auditor general. The program is as follows: "The Civilization of the East or of the West must control Hawaii. Which shall it be?" F. R. Gilson. "The United States Pacific Coast Line of ten thousand miles is best protected from Hawaii." Hon. E. L. Hamilton. "Hawaii—At once the jewel and the stronghold of the Pacific. Its possession by the United States is a commercial and strategical necessity." Hon. L. A. Thurston. "Queen Liliuokalani and other Queens." Hon. R. D. Dix.

As on former occasions every guest will be expected to pay for his own plate, 50 cents, and for any friends he may invite. Members are invited to take their ladies to this reception. The will open at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening.

OBTAINED BAIL.

"Doc" Calderwood is Released Pending Examination.

"Doc" Calderwood, arrested Saturday for prize fighting, succeeded in obtaining the required $500 bail and will enjoy freedom pending his examination next Tuesday. His bond was signed by Mat Yore and John Wenman.

IMPORTANT.

So the Decision in the Chaddock-Tabor Case is Considered.

A Lansing dispatch to the Detroit Evening News comments on the Chaddock-Tabor case as follows: The supreme court has made a ruling which gives people injured by the ever-present small boys armed with air guns a show to get even, in case the shooter ever becomes financially responsible.

It appears that in August, 1890, Alonzo Plummer, of Benton Harbor, gave a wooden air gun to his son Harry, then nine years old. The boy played until he became tired of it, and then set it away in the stormhouse. One morning in September, Roscoe Tabor, a neighbor's boy, 10 years old, found the gun. Mrs. Plummer gave him four shot which her son had left in the house. Young Tabor fired twice at the hen coop, then he placed a grape on a plank as a target. The shot, glancing, flew about 75 feet to the street, striking John N. Chaddock and destroying the sight of one of his eyes.

Chaddock brought suit against Alonzo Plummer, the father, claiming an air gun is so obviously dangerous as to make it negligence on the part of a father to place one in the hands of a 9-year-old son, and furthermore to make him liable for injuries sustained in its use by the Tabor boy, even without his knowledge or consent.

In the circuit court the judge directed a verdict in favor of the defendant. The case was appealed to the supreme court and affirmed in an opinion written by Chief Justice Morse, who held that if Plummer's own son had in any manner contributed to the injuries a different question would arise.

The most interesting feature is that recently Chaddock brought suit against the Tabor boy, who actually did the shooting, claiming the latter had now arrived at such years of maturity, that, if negligent in the use of the gun seven years ago, he was liable for the injury done, and recovered a judgment for $1,000. This case was also sustained by the supreme court.

THE FIRST Y. M. C. A.

It Was Organized by Nehemiah to Rebuild the Broken Walls of Jerusalem.

SAME WORK IN BENTON HARBOR

Is Being Done by the Local Association—A Grand Rally Held Last Evening.

The interest that the young men, the fathers and the mothers feel in the Benton Harbor Y. M. C. A., was shown by the large audience that gathered at the union service at the First Methodist church last evening. The address of the new general secretary, N. W. Woodford, was convincing on the point that the association did a special line of work which the church as now organized could not do.

At the close of the address the pastors present gave it the stamp of their approval. Rev. Dr. Brooks was glad that more money was to be raised and that the work was to be put upon a higher plane. Rev. George B. Simons rejoiced in an "I told-you-so" speech. "When the association was first started I advocated engaging a secretary worth $1,200 to $1,500 per year. The members of the board of directors were so scared that they crawled into their holes. I am glad that they have awakened and crawled out and have started to make the work a success." Mr. Simons congratulated the new secretary upon having such a good lot of ministers to work with, and shyly included himself in the lot.

"I have lived in Benton Harbor about a year," said Rev. E. A. Hoffman, "and have studied the situation and find that our weakest line of defense is our work to save young men." Turning to the new secretary the pastor earnestly said: "You may look to the Presbyterian church for its most hearty co-operation and prayers."

Rev. W. P. French emphasized the fact that the work could not be carried on without money. Every father and mother ought to contribute a little and in a few years he believed that the association would own a building constructed especially for itself.

Rev. L. W. Earl closed with a fervent amen to all that had been said and he declared that nothing seemed to him so important as work among the young men.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. F. A. Votey, one of the directors of the association. At the close of the meeting he stated that the association was now $400 in debt and that the estimated expenditures necessary to properly carry on the work this year amount to $1,500. Special music was furnished by the Methodist choir, the leading feature being a solo by Miss Maud Brown.

Secretary Woodford, while making no pretensions as an orator, drove his arguments straight home to the hearts of his hearers. "The Y. M. C. A., he said, "is responsible for my being here. I was brought up in a Christian home and in the church, but going out into the world I drifted away. It was through the influence of the Y. M. C. A. that I was brought back and saved from a life of degradation. It was at a time when the means of transportation began to multiply and so many of the young men were living away from home that the association was organized. It has now grown beyond the experimental stage."

The work was fully explained. The relations of the church to the association and the community to the association was made plain, and the objections that commonly arise against the needs of a special work of this kind were logically answered.

The book of Nehemiah was referred to as picturing the first Y. M. C. A. Nehemiah was the general secretary and he looked out and saw the walls of Jerusalem broken down and rushed to the defense of the weak places. That is what the modern Y. M. C. A. is doing today.

The secretary closed with a strong plea for cooperation. As the people struggled to secure a better harbor for the ships at sea so should they be interested in making attractive this harbor for young men.

Didn't Use Anti-Toxine.

Gallen, Nov. 20. EDITOR EVENING NEWS: I wish to inform you of my experience in treating diphtheria. I have treated fourteen cases of this character during this last epidemic in Gallen, with only two deaths, and in each of those cases who died, the remedy I use could not be procured in time. This is no patent medicine, nor is it an old line treatment, but an entirely new and scientific specific, perfectly safe and harmless. No Anti-Toxine was used in any case and no unfavorable after effects have followed its use.

Proud of the Capital.

The people of the country are fond of their capital. More than the Washingtonians themselves, they have seen the wonderful progress of Washington, for by visits at intervals, some of them extending over years, they have met with some contrasts which tell the story to the spectator more thoroughly than constant living in the city could do. In different parts of the country we have heard people discuss the growth of Washington with pride and relate the comparisons of their various visits. The man who was there 10 or 20 years ago and who goes again this year takes a tale back home which he never tires of telling.

And not only will Washington have no rival in the sense of competition, but it is destined to be beautiful beyond any other city or any other capital in the world. What has been done is simply an earnest of what is to come. It will be the capital of society as well as politics. Art and education will follow, and already it is a fact that more learned and authoritative men can be gathered in an audience in that city than anywhere else in the country. In fact, Baltimore is glad to be so near Washington.

DEAD FATHER'S FACE.

It Appeared to James Stewart at Saginaw Recently.

Saginaw, Nov. 22.—James Stewart, of this city, related a strange story in connection with the death of his father, Duncan Stewart, at Detroit, Saturday morning. He says:

"I awoke early Friday morning and was startled by a bright light overhead and looking up, the face of my departed mother appeared before me. I was about to say 'mother' to her when I noticed the face of my father close to hers. My mother's face looked bright while my father's appeared very pale and wore a grave expression. I felt at once that he had passed away and a moment after the dear face grew indistinct and I watched him until they faded away. I lay awake a moment, dazed at what I had seen, and then that it was no hallucination. I was wide awake as I heard my wife if she had observed a light in the room and she replied 'No.' I then related what I had seen and she said, 'they are reunited at last.' I got a light and looked at the clock to note the time, and said it is a few minutes after 5. Shortly before 6 o'clock I was called to the phone and the first words I heard were: 'Is that you, Brother James?' I answered and my brother Duncan, of Detroit, said: 'Father is dead; he died a few minutes after 5.' I said: 'I knew it,' and he asked, 'How did you know it?' I then related what I had seen and he said, 'It is very strange.' I don't pretend to account for this, for I am no believer in spiritualism and am not superstitious, but the occurrence has produced a strong impression on my mind that there is some connection between this world and the next when dear ones will thus reappear to us."

Quo warranto proceedings were commenced in the supreme court Saturday by Cassius Hollenbeck, of Lansing, who claims the office of justice of the peace, now filled by John Goodson, of Detroit.

DULUTH WINS.

Wins Its Water Works at Its Own Price.

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 22.—After a ten years' struggle in the city council, in the state courts and in five special elections Mayor Truelson has triumphed over the Duluth Gas and Water company in its efforts to sell its plants to the city. He has succeeded in making the company reduce its figures from $2,100,000, which it asked for the plant in 1891, to $1,250,000, which it is now ready to accept and which are the figures the mayor has been determined to bring them to all the time the fight has been on.

By winning the fight Mayor Truelson has saved the city nearly $1,000,000. The fight has been against great odds. The mayor has had a combined opposition of the daily papers, and it is estimated that the company has spent over $500,000 in elections and litigation. The company was forced to make the present offer because of the persistence of the mayor in pushing the building of a municipal plant.

The new plant will bring water from several miles up the lake. Its mains are built far enough so that they can be connected with the mains of the company's plant in twenty-four hours. There is a general rejoicing here over the settlement of the fight, as it means pure water for the city and the stoppage of typhoid fever epidemics, which have been almost yearly happenings heretofore.

CURRENCY REFORM.

In Times of Prosperity Mr. Gage Wants to Prepare for Adversity.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Secretary Gage will go to New York today to attend the annual banquet of the chamber of commerce Tuesday evening, at which he is to deliver the principal speech. He has chosen for his topic "Currency Reform; Now or When?" and will argue the wisdom of preparing for adversity in times of prosperity. He does not sympathize with many members of the banking fraternity who want the government to let well enough alone and not attempt to "fool with the currency" just now when things are picking up for fear of creating an agitation that will disturb confidence. Mr. Gage thinks this is exactly the time for congress to take up the subject, and believes that the whole financial problem will be settled within the next four years, if not at the next congressional election.

THUGS ARE BUSY.

Chicago Highwaymen Begin the Season.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Three masked robbers made matters lively in the neighborhood of Twenty-third street and Sawyer avenue yesterday morning early, when for five minutes or more they fired bullets about the street in a promiscuous manner, attempting to force Albert Misk to hand over his valuables. The only reference to the robbery was made by the Chicago Herald.

sign that stood in front of a candy store and behind which Misk took refuge. The image was well filled with bullets, and then the robbers dragged the human victim from his hiding place and administered a severe beating, after which they took $13, all the money in Misk's possessions.

DIVORCES HIGHER.

Indiana Separations Will Cost More Than Formerly.

La Grange, Nov. 22.—The rapid growth of divorce litigation in Indiana, which has become a mecca for mis-mated couples, has resulted in action being taken toward reformation in the granting of divorces.

It is alleged that the court dockets of the state have been found to be incumbered with decrees granted where no costs have been paid, the aggregate amount being startling. The result has been a decision on the part of circuit court judges that no divorces will be granted unless costs are paid, that thereafter in cases where decrees have been issued the marital bonds are still binding until costs have been liquidated.

Mrs. Rapelge's Suit for Damage Being Heard in the Circuit Court.

The long discussed suit of Mrs. A. W. Rapelge against the Coloma railroad for damages alleged to have been sustained when certain parts of the railroad track were laid over to Paw Paw lake is being tried in the circuit court today. Mrs. Rapelge is the owner of Maplewood resort, and her building faces the track, on a lot east of the side track leading to Brown Brothers' mammoth ice houses. She claims that the side track damages her property and insists upon a division of railroad dividends to straighten matters out.

Theosophy.

It would seem natural that theosophy should come to us in the wake of spiritualism and that both should seek in the occultism of the far east the stimulus of mystery necessary to the propagation of the one and the rehabilitation of the other. But here we must be careful not to wrong the new gospel, for theosophists, we believe, are now anxious to disavow connection with spiritualism, though "to explore the hidden mysteries of nature and the latent powers of man" is one of the prominent aims of the brotherhood. The sibyl of the society we know, at any rate, dabbled largely in necromancy and spiritism, and in her work, "Isis Unveiled," much space is given to divinations and to the laudation of the occult sciences of India and Egypt. Moreover, when Mme. Blavatsky accompanied Colonel Olcott to India, her sojourn there was marked by such an exercise of so called supernatural powers as to lead the Psychological Research Society of England to send out some of its trusted members to investigate the phenomena, an action fatal to the pretensions of the founder of theosophy. Moncure Conway has since also told us how the high priestess of the new religion was laughing in her sleeve while she was sending reports of these alleged miraculous occurrences to her devotees in England.

It is disingenuous, therefore, in the adherents of theosophy to disclaim kinship with spiritualism. Is it not claimed for Mme. Blavatsky that she spent 30 years of her life in the study of the occult sciences, and that in propagating her gospel she was the chosen medium of a mysterious brotherhood of adepts, called mahatmas, who in Tibet had reached an incredible age through the practice of magical arts—Buddhism.

There are always persons eager to become thin and others eager to become fat, but it is admitted among physicians that it is easier to reduce flesh than to increase it. It may be rubbed off, starved off, sweated off, starved off if the victim has resolution enough to submit to a continuous course of such treatment, but there are many cases where no amount of thought and effort will succeed in putting flesh on. It is, of course, easier to undertake to correct emaciation when the cause of it is known. Where it is constitutional, the case is well nigh hopeless, but where it arises from dyspepsia, insufficient nutrition or nervous worry there is a better chance of combating it. Anxiety is a potent source of evil in this respect, as it destroys the appetite, weakens digestion and induces sleeplessness.

Anybody who wishes to grow plump should eat as much nourishing, easily digested food as possible, drink milk, cream and beer, exercise only enough to keep in health, avoid all mental exertion and worry and sleep a great deal. Very hot baths should not be taken often, as they tend to reduce weight. A sedentary life does not necessarily cause fatty development, since it is apt to affect the digestion unfavorably, and where that is at fault the body is not well nourished. Moderate exercise and plenty of open air are therefore recommended, pleasant but not exciting diversions, and, above all, peace of mind.

The illustration given today shows a costume having a skirt of old rose silk, ornamented with three bands of otter, which form a point in front. The Russian blouse of changeable velvet in old rose and other tints has a pointed basque edged with otter and a simulated yoke consisting of a band of pink silk embroidered with gold and bordered with otter. The sleeves of old rose silk are edged at the wrists by bands of otter and have full epaulets of velvet bordered with otter. The belt is of pink grosgrain, with a gold buckle.

STILL ANOTHER CONTEST.

School Dreams Offers a Fine Watch as a Prize.

Clair Bastar of Benton Harbor won the fine watch offered by the School Dreams Publishing company last week. He had a list of 58 words, plurals and past tense of verbs not being counted. We offer another fine watch this week. If you tried last week and were unsuccessful try again this week and you may win.

To the person sending the largest list of words spelled from the letters contained in the words "HIGH DREAMS," we will send absolutely free a fine watch. Remember a list of 58 words won last week, a less number may win this week. The contest closes November 20, 1897, and the watch will be sent to the winner not later than the 30 of November. The rules of the contest are:

First—With every list you send enclose 10 cents for a three months subscription to School Dreams, a fine 12 page, illustrated magazine.

Second—Do not use foreign words. No word not found in Webster's Dictionary will be allowed.

Third—Use no letter more times in one word than it appears in student.

Fourth—Send your list by mail.

Now go to work. A list of ten words or less may win the watch. The watch is fine and durable and is one which you will be proud of.

Address all lists to School Dreams Publishing Co., Dept. C., Benton Harbor, Mich.

TO THE PUBLIC.

As a stranger soliciting a share of your patronage it is but just to you and to myself that I make some mention of my fitness for the work I would undertake. I come of a medical family, my father, brother and many relatives being physicians. I have attended and hold credentials from leading homoeopathic and allopathic medical colleges. For eighteen years I have successfully conducted a large practice. I have held high office in State and National medical societies, and received honorary professional recognition from abroad. I have had considerable hospital experience, am something of a medical writer and author, and have been professor in reputable medical colleges.

These frank statements can be easily verified. If they commend me to your confidence it will give me pleasure to professionally advise and assist healthward all who need and desire my services.

I am prepared to and will practice all branches of medicine and surgery, but because of special research, experience and success in this direction, greatly prefer and particularly invite those suffering from obscure, complicated, delicate, and all chronic or lingering diseases to consult me. Obstinate cases that others have failed to cure are solicited.

My office is at 112 East Main street, one door east of the postoffice, Benton Harbor.

Respectfully, C. EDSON COVEY, M. D.

Our work is the best and we guarantee to make your goods wear one-fourth longer than any other laundry in this section, especially the so-called hand laundries, for they cannot avoid the use of chemicals which we have done away with by the use of our new WATER PURIFIER, which gives us an abundant supply of practically soft water. Do not be deceived by parties claiming to do the work all by hand, for their methods are very much more destructive to the linen than ours with our late improvements. We have had years of experience in both ways and know whereof we speak. If you will visit our laundry you will at once be convinced that our way of washing is the easiest possible on the goods.
